

Hemispheres Think Write Cursive Handwriting Programme

1 Day Training Course

Hemispheres are excited to announce the first regional training day for Hemispheres Think Write; a programme designed to help structure the teaching of cursive writing to children between the ages of 3-8 years.

The day will take you through the 4 modules of learning, starting with the cognitive framework, the benefits of this type of teaching, all the way through to teaching children how to write with fluidity and control. The day will include activities that can be used to improve pencil grip and ways of differentiating the programme to help those children who need a little more help.

The day will be informative, interactive and practical so be prepared to have a go at learning the different activities.
